Resource person: Mrs. Supriya Guhagarkar

On 11 February 2019, College arranged Workshop on Food Adulteration. The event was commenced with a comprehensive introduction to Food Adulteration by Mrs. Supriya Guhagarkar. She Guided with Adulteration of food deceives the consumer and can cause a risk to their health. Antimicrobial resistant is the ability of microbes to resist the effect of medication that once could successfully treat the microbe. Indiscriminate use of antibiotic against microbial infection develops antibiotic resistance. The students have demonstrated easy methods of detecting adulteration in daily consuming food grains and powders. Five different teams of students successfully conducted adulteration detecting experiments in an effective way.

There was participation of 50 Students in this workshop. The students learned about the Basic ways to recognize the adulterated food. There was great participation from the students. This programme received very good response from the students.

on 21-06-2019

Reduce anger, depression, and fatigue so that children can better manage the big emotions and low moments of life now and long into the future.

Ease anxiety, stress, and tension so that children can focus on the positive aspects of life and lead happier lives.

Improve stress management and teach healthy, productive ways to manage challenging tasks in school and tension-filled times.

Enhance focus, attention, concentration, comprehension, and memory so children can better perform in school and other activities they enjoy.

Provide opportunities for patience, reflection, and self-insight, thereby reducing problem behaviors.

Increase flexibility, strength, and balance, which in turn, increases self-confidence by promoting a healthy body image and creating healthy habits around physical activities.

Increase resilience and coping frequency so that challenges and set-backs don't derail them from their goals in life.

Life Skill- Eye Check up camp

Workshop

on

16-02-2023

Eye camp concept is a highly desirable and accepted strategy in providing eye health services to the populations in remote and underserved areas of developing countries.

Eye camps are generally of two types.

1. Comprehensive eye care camps
2. Mass cataract camps

Progress of a camp can be assessed using those set indicators and their performance units. Total number of units for each camp can be compared with another same type of a camp for each activity or for overall activities. It may be compared with a gold standard or set goals for a single camp too.

Most eye camps are organized by non governmental organizations. They have a major role in organization and conducting eye camps. Technical inputs are provided by the institutional ophthalmic team where the eye surgeon is the team leader.

Work	Personnel

Diagnosing, treating and referral	Ophthalmologist
